Heads of This Week's County Junior Fair

RENT OFFICE READY TO OPEN

Marion Director To Begin Duties Tuesday; Statement of Policy Issued.

Arrangements have been completed for the opening of the federal rent control office serving Marion county, John K. Bartram, local director, announced today. The office which will be located on the north side of Center street a short distance west of Campbell street, will open Tues- day.

Registration of housing accom- modations will not take place at this time. The date for the be- ginning of registration will be announced in the near future. In announcing the completion of plans, Mr. Bartram outlined briefly some of the policies of the rent control office.

Under the emergency price con- trol act the federal government has authority to regulate rents on all houses and accommodations wherever people live, and pay- ments, including houses, apart- ments, flats, tenements, rooms, hotels, boarding houses, auto camps and trailer camps. Rent control does not extend to buildings used solely for commercial or industrial purposes, Mr. Bartram stated.

Ceiling on Rents The federal regulations place a ceiling on all residential rents. In fixing this ceiling, the govern- ment does not attempt the col- ossal task of inspecting the liv- ing quarters of each of America's 16,000,000 rent-paying families and set a maximum rent on each one. The price administrator in Washington selects a maximum rent date for the rent control area and directs that, as a gen- eral principle, rents do not ex- ceed those of that date. That date for Marion county, Mr. Bar- tram said, is March 1, 1942. If the housing accommodations rented were occupied on that date and since then have not been sub- stantially changed by any major capital improvement, changed as to dwelling units or from unfur- nished to furnished, rents must be reduced to what they were March 1, 1942.

TO MOVE LOCKBOURNE BASE GLIDER SCHOOL

Not Sure Whether Baldinger Will Be Transferred.

The glider school at Lockbourne air base near Columbus, which has been watched with special in- terest in Marion because Lieut. Col. O. M. Baldinger, a former Marion man, is the commanding officer, will be moved Oct. 1 to an undisclosed destination. The Associated Press reported. Col. Baldinger was not avail- able for comment yesterday but an official at the field said the listed personnel and equipment will be moved in line with the Washington announcement. The Lockbourne base originally was built as a bombardier base, but last-minute changes brought the glider training there early this summer. The base was con- structed at a cost of approxi- mately $7,500,000 and recently another contract for runways amounting to between $300,000 and $1,000,000 was let.

The type of unit that will re- place the glider unit was not an- nounced nor was it certain whether Col. Baldinger would re- main there or leave with the glider unit.

RAF, RUSSIAN PLANES BOMB 2 COUNTRIES

Bombs Scattered in Germany and Poland; Allied Planes Hit Budapest.

LONDON, Sept. 5 — British and Russian planes administered a punishing whiplaw assault upon Germany from west and east last night, a strong RAF kindling fires in Bremen and the Rus- sians scattering bombs over eastern Germany and occupied Pol- and while unidentified Allied raiders made their first attack on Budapest.

The German war bulletin which reported the raids on eastern Germany failed to name the cities attacked, but the British radio quoted Scandinavian dis- patches from Berlin as saying that the targets included Vienna in Austria, Koenigsburg, a city of East Prussia, and Breslau in German Silesia.

Budapest Hit Berlin broadcast an official Hun- garian announcement that Buda- pest and points in northern Hun- gary were hit by bombs dropped during a two-hour alarm by night-flying raiders, whom the Germans said were Russian.

The raid was the first on Hun- gary since the early days of the invasion of Russia and the brief Balkan campaign in Yugoslavia last year. Following its night activity against Bremen, big northern seaport of Germany, the RAF sent swarms of fighters and bombers across the channel in daylight today and the Germans sent a single noonday raid over London and another over East Anglia where a shopping district was bombed.

Sharp gunfire broke out in London during the brief alert touched off by the appearance of the enemy craft. "A heavy weight of bombs was dropped and many fires were left burning," the air ministry said of the Bremen assault. Fighter com- mand aircraft were over northern France also on offensive patrol during the night.

Eleven aircraft were reported missing from the raid on Bremen, a familiar bombing target on the West coast 40 miles from the North sea. It was Bremen's 20th air raid.

It was the fourth straight night of British assaults against war industries and communications of Adolf Hitler's Reich.

ATTENDANCE RECORD SET AS FAIR ENDS

Total Reaches 37,000; Friday Crowds Total 12,000.

(Other fair news on Pages 2 and 3.) Attendance records of Marion county's annual fair in recent years were smashed yesterday when some 12,000 men, women and children brought the four-day attendance to around 37,000, about 7,000 more than the estimated turnout for the 1941 ex- position.

Many Plants To Continue War Output on Labor Day

Operations Maintained Generally Throughout Country; Partial Suspension Effective in Marion.

Marion today prepared to join the state and nation in a quiet observance of Labor day. Business generally and public offices will be closed here for the day, and some industrial plants will be idle. Other factories will continue work as usual.

A few special activities have been arranged in Marion and nearby counties.

There's A Difference Marion's Labor day will be dif- ferent this year, in that 1942 finds the city in the midst of a huge war industry program and because production must go on, many of the projects at the Scioto Ordnance plant will con- tinue operation on the holiday.

The holiday will mark the close of the summer vacation period and herald the opening of school for hundreds of children and juniors in the city and county.

City and rural mill carriers will have the day off as no deliv- eries will be made. The mar- tial delivery window at the Mar- ion postoffice will be open until 11:30 a. m. for those wishing to call for mail and the postoffice lobby will be open throughout the day. As in other years a skeleton staff will be at work to receive and dispatch mail.

The city library will be closed as will also the city and county offices, banks, building and loan associations and practically all other places of business. Flower shops will be open at least part of the day.

Hotels and restaurants will come in for their share of busi- ness with the return of vacation- ists and others taking advantage of the last week-end holiday of the year, while museums, parks and other places of interest will welcome tourists and sightseers taking a final fling at holiday ex- cursions for the year.

Entertainment Features Marion theatres have provided an entertaining bill of fare for those free for the holiday, and additional entertainment will be provided by the radio show- staged at the Marion County fair- grounds and the Kinney Comedy company which opens with a recent show on the Adelphi lot.

Serena park will not close as usual on Labor Day, but will con- tinue to be open through Septem- ber, the management announced. This week-end there will be dancing Sunday and Monday the park will not on the usual cele- bration with free dancing both afternoon and evening Monday night there will be a fireworks display.

The Moose orchestra will en- tertain the diners Sunday, Mon- day and Tuesday nights on the return engagement. They now have an electric organ as an ad- ded musical feature.

The Marion office of the United States Employment service will be closed Labor day, Fred B. Scheff, manager, announced today. Applications scheduled to be at the office Monday will re- port on Tuesday.

Production Promised "Ohio Labor will observe Labor day in the production plants by continuing their part in pro- ducing war materials, George A. Strain, state director of indus- trial relations stated today, ac- cording to an Associated Press dispatch.

The few parades scheduled will stress labor unity in the war pro- gram; marchers will be workers off duty while their comrades keep the machines operating. Exceptions to the work as usual policy will be state, and fed- eral officers, state liquor stores, mail carriers and banks.

The new Curtiss-Wright plant and other war factories at Col- umbus will run full blast. "By reason of the urgent need for airplanes" produced by this factory, this entire organization will continue normal operations Labor day," said General Man- ager J. A. Williams of the Colum- bus Curtiss-Wright plant. Both American Federation of

GERMANS CALL VOLGA CITY A 'RED VERDUN'

Reds Fight to Death Rather Than Yield; Allies Report Gains in Egypt.

By The Associated Press Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's armies rallying in the hour of deepest crisis stopped the Ger- mans on the bloody plains before Stalingrad today and even storm- ed into Nazi lines northwest of the Volga steel city to capture booty and prisoners.

A German broadcast, quoting Nazi military quarters, said the Russians were fighting bitterly to "make Stalingrad a 'Red Verdun'" and declared the sprawling indus- trial center had been converted into a vast fortress, which would be difficult to take.

"There are many tanks and so much artillery that the German troops, even after they have en- tered the city's environs, must capture house after house," a Nazi military spokesman said.

Besides heavy reinforced con- crete bunkers, Stalingrad's bris- tling defenses include "innumera- ble anti-aircraft guns, reaching right up to the suburbs where German forces are now fighting," the spokesman said.

"Supplies are firing their way with hand grenades and bayonets from one center of resistance to another," he added.

German siege guns were re- ported pounding the city while hundreds of Nazi warplanes spread fire and destruction, but still the Red armies, bolstered by factory workers and civilians, fought to the death rather than surrender the "city of Stalin."

Good News From Egypt Further good news for the United Nations came from the Egyptian battlefield, where Brit- ish G.I.s reported a new axis retreat on the southern end of the 25-mile line and declared that British troops beat off three heavy counter-attacks against newly- won positions on the center.

A communiqué said the axis forces "again moved slightly west- ward"—the third strategic retreat in the El Mitehmet sector on the rim of the great Qattara salt basin.

On the center, the British com- mand said tank-led axis infan- try attempting to regain points captured by the British Thursday night ran into a withering barrage of artillery fire. British troops then charged the wavering Ger- mans and Italians, the commu- niqué said, and drove them off.

Italian field headquarters gave a conflicting version of the bat- tle, asserting that axis armored forces had launched an attack on the southern sector and captured "several hundred prisoners, in- cluding the general of a New Zealand brigade."

The latest command also de- clared that axis armor bombed concentrations of British armored vehicles "and set 40 on fire."

Rommel Founded Cairo dispatches said the Brit- ish, supported by U. S. tanks and planes, maintained "heavy pres- sure" on the enemy all day yes- terday and "considerable" fighting.

The German high command de- clared that several tank-suppor- ted British attacks on the south- ern sector "were frustrated."

WAGE LIMIT ORDER COMING

President To Announce Pro- gram in Labor Day Talk.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5 — A drastic Presidential order limit- ing all wages, salaries and farm prices was in store for the na- tion today in an unprecedented move, government officials re- vealed, to thwart a threatened runaway rise in the cost of liv- ing.

The responsible sources who can not be quoted by name, said the decree, as drafted by Pres- ident Roosevelt for issuance on Labor day, calls for creation of an economic administration to carry out these policies and others designed to halt rising wartime living costs.

In effect, the Presidential edict is scheduled to tighten the purse strings of every American to lux- ury or unnecessary spending, but open them wide to payments of debts and more taxes, and to greater war bond purchases.

Even Mr. Roosevelt's advisers who aided in preparing the mes- sage regarded it as almost revolu- tionary because an act of con- gress virtually will be set aside by the firm price version of the order which affects a provision of the price control act specifically forbidding an upper ceiling on farm products at less than 110 per cent of parity.

The President will say his war- time powers and duties are suf- ficient authority for the order.

Names of the speakers at the OPA clinic arranged for Marion next Tuesday night in Hotel Harding were announced today by the Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the event through its retailers group.

The men will give talks and then answer questions from the floor. The meeting is primarily intended to acquaint businessmen with the statewide compliance drive to urge merchants to com- ply with price ceiling regula- tions.

The Chamber is now collecting questions from businessmen to be answered at the meeting, scheduled to start at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

The Bible and Labor

A SERMONETTE
By REV. H. C. AHRENS
Pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church

"We are laborers together with God." I Cor. 3:9.

ANOTHER Labor Sunday and Labor Day is before us. This year's observance of this day will differ from that of previous years since we are at war. Certain facts will remain the same under any and all changing conditions, namely God, Christ and the Bible. They are unchangeable, for they are the same yesterday, today and forever. We shall therefore turn to the Bible for our Labor day meditation. There is no better guide book.

Labor according to the Scripture is man's appointed lot. The teaching of Scripture is that man, even in his state of innocence, was to lead a life of activity, which was very different, however, from the trouble and restlessness of the weary toil into which he was plunged by sin. The first reference to labor is found in Gen. 2:15 "The Lord took the man and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it." In consequence of the fall, he was obliged to secure the necessities of life by labor and strenuous exertion. Gen. 3:19 "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground, for out of it was thou taken; for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return."

THOUGH God expected man to work, the Scripture reveals God as interested in the laboring class. In the commandments God set aside a day of rest for those who labor saying: "Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work." God realized that man would need time for rest, so that he might become refreshed in body and soul, therefore he gave him a day of rest and of worship. Jesus reminds us not only to work for the food which perisheth, but rather for the food which abideth unto eternal life, which the Son of man shall give unto him.

Christ furthermore invites those who labor to come unto Him saying:

The first Monday in September is dedicated to the sons of toil, those workers who have helped to make this nation great, and who in this time of national emergency are doing so much to preserve the American way of life.

It is fitting that we all do the worker honor on his day, for that honor has been rightfully earned.

"LABOR DAY"
in the History of our Country

The importance of Labor Day this year is seen in the observance accorded the day itself. This year the nation celebrates Labor Day by working! Instead of setting out on the morning of Labor Day with a well packed lunch basket for a picnic, this year Labor will set out from home with a well packed dinner pail for another 8, 10 or 12 hour turn at the factory. On that day, Labor will determine to celebrate by working just a little harder, a little faster than usual. Labor knows, the country knows, that this is the most important Labor Day in the history of this nation. It should be long remembered, with chagrin and dismay, by our enemies.

Rules on Yule Gifts for Sailors, Marines Issued

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Christmas parcels for sailors and marines should be mailed early and kept small, the navy said today.

Supplying a set of "dos" and "don'ts" the navy said gifts should be mailed between Oct. 1 and Nov. 1, and labelled "Christmas parcel" to get special attention.

Articles should be easily portable, and useful in any climate, such as toilet kits, watches, notebooks, pipes, pens and photographic. Electrical apparatus "is of doubtful value," and food should be avoided particularly, because it is apt to arrive in bad condition.

Other instructions:

No clothing unless it was specifically requested.

No mailing of toxicants, inflammables or poisons.

No Stab in the Back

THE DAY when the Axis could stab another neighbor in the back with sudden aggression is past. Every part of the world has learned the story of Axis treachery so thoroughly that no more backs are turned. All are on the alert with faces toward the enemy.

If Japan moves against Russia she will find the Siberian army ready and American bombing planes only a shot hop away. If she moves against India she will find United Nations soldiers on the alert and as aware of fifth columnists and passive resisters as they are of the enemy from without. If Germany moves to the Near East she will find a full British army bulwarked by huge stores of American supplies. If she moves on Dakar she will find the Free French and the Americans to the south, the British to the north and Brazil and America to the west, just a bombing hop across the narrowest part of the Atlantic.

Axis nations have powerful war machines. They will conquer more territory and win more victories before they are wrecked. They must gain them, however, by the costly method of mass assault for there are no more lands waiting to be taken easily and inexpensively through surprise and treachery.

No nation, however powerful, can long afford victories so costly in human life and material resources as those the Germans have won in Russia. Conquest at such a price is suicide and the United States are in a position to make the Axis pay ever more heavily for future gains.

Give Tires a Chance

THE MAN who left broken glass, nails and other fire-destructors in the street was always a public nuisance but now he is a public enemy.

Tires have ceased to be a matter of private concern. They are now a part of the national defense. Carelessness which damages them is sabotage.

Most filling stations and many other places of business make it a practice to gather up broken glass or other sharp objects in their neighborhood. The public and especially the children will be contributing to the war effort if they remove any tire menaces which come to their attention.

For patriotism, if not for neighborly helpfulness, let's keep the streets and highways clean and give those poor, thin, irreplaceable tires a chance for maximum usefulness.

Geography Our Enemy

GEOGRAPHY is the greatest weapon the Axis possesses. It is the reason why the United Nations never can win by fighting a defensive war.

Look at a map or a globe and you find the axis nations on the inside of a circle and the United Nations fighting on the outside. This gives our enemies the all important advantage of quick movement of troops and supplies from one front to another. The size of the circle robs us of the one advantage which comes from such a situation, the possibility of blockade as effective as to bring starvation to the enemy.

Germany can move men and materials from one front to any other, excepting Africa, by rail, while we must depend on slower ocean borne transportation.

Take, for example, the middle east. If Germany wins the rest of Caucasus the way will be wide open to march against the British in Iran with good lines for supply at her back England, since she no longer has full control of the Mediterranean, must send supplies around Africa while the United States must send them across the Pacific and around Australia. If the Russians hold, Germany can either try to force a way across Turkey or, if Rommel wins Egypt, she will have a short and comparatively safe route with a short water haul.

Japan's armies and munitions must be moved by water but across routes guarded by land based planes.

The enemy can strike quickly in any direction with comparatively short movements. We must be ready at all points on the great circle involving tremendous distances and transportation problems the like of which man has never known.

As the enemy is driven back he comes ever closer to his supplies and his defense lines are more closely massed. The only strategic advantage the United Nations gain from the situation is that the enemy objectives are more closely centered for attacks from the air.

On the whole, geography is on the side of our enemy. That is one of the reasons why we dare not dream of a short war.

Army Life De Luxe

THE PULLMAN company broke an all time record when it moved 708,000 service men in uniform in sleeping cars in July. Soldiers now occupy rooms in the swankiest hotels at Miami, Atlantic City and other places for which civilians were paying $12 a day last year. Food packers warn that the stay-at-homes must be content with poorer quality food because the best is going to the army and navy.

It's a long step from box cars, pup tents and hardtack and we're mightily pleased. We always said, "Nothing is too good for a soldier." Now we're acting as though we mean it.

News Behind the News

Treasury's "Spending" Tax Proposal
Resurrected from Ash Can.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Treasury got its new spending tax proposal out of the ash can. It had cut the scheme once as too far-reaching.

A memo containing the plan was privately circulated among members of the House Ways and Means committee six months ago, when the question of more taxes first came up. Frigid, stony-eyed glances which the treasury experts received from the House members on that occasion were enough to cause it to be dropped before being presented to the public.

Something vaguely similar was discussed in open committee hearings by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale and the Connecticut engineer, Hazlitt, who tracked the idea back to John Stuart Mills (1848) or beyond.

Apparently the treasury thought it ought to suggest something new. It wanted nearly two billions more of revenue, and was against the only prominently discussed manner of raising such a sum, the sales tax. It had to say something, so spoke this truly amazing piece for $8,500,000,000 more.

Humblings, its creation was not offered, however, without some suggestion of internal rumblings of dissatisfaction over the scheme within the treasury itself. Its presentation, you noticed, was delayed two days.

The stories common among the taxmakers in the senate implied that the treasury experts were not unanimous, that one of the leading experts strongly disapproved, that even Treasury Secretary Morgenthau was gun-shy on it, and held it up. These stories were denied by the treasury. Naturally they would be.

Final treasury version of the old idea carried a somewhat pretty name, "spending tax," but it covered income, financial and economic ramifications running so deep and devious that the congressmen themselves did not fully understand all consequences of the project, even if the treasury did. As the congressmen told each other, facetiously:

"It's simple. All you do is to figure up all your taxes, your income taxes, state income taxes, social security taxes, excise taxes, then compute what you have left in W.P.B. but ultimately came after Swirlbul had started building."

This simplification is an overstatement, but Mr. Morgenthau testified his purpose was to raise money.

Yanks' Invasion Job

Hopes of Second Front Rest Largely with American Troops.

By WES GALLAGHER
Wide World Writer

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Allied hopes of opening a second front and dealing Germany a knockout blow in this fourth year of war rest largely on the shoulders of a young and ever growing American army. That is the combined opinion of qualified military observers—and figures bear them out.

With a population half as large as Germany's, Britain has an air force that now stacks up as equal to or better than the Reich's, and Britain's navy is far superior to anything Hitler can offer. But it is physically impossible to put a British army in the field to match the German war machine.

Britain has drained the manpower and woman power reserves in the last three years. Military experts usually estimate that a country can mobilize 10 per cent of its population for the fighting forces. Based on figures 4-6,000,000 fighting men for Britain.

In Service Now.
Prime Minister Churchill announced in his last speech in commons that at least 950,000 soldiers had been sent abroad, and at last account another million were in the RAF. No one except the admiralty knows how many are in the navy but there are certainly at least a half million and this does not include the many thousands in the merchant marine.

This leaves about 1,500,000 for the army in the European theater, about half of whom would be needed in behind-the-lines supply services. Many thousands of home guards—over and under-age men—could be mustered for defense against invasion but these would be of slight use in any offensive action.

The general public has had an impression that colonial troops, soldiers and sailors are doing most of the fighting, possibly partly because of an RAF rule that while the exploits of Canadians, Australians, New Zealanders and South Africans may be mentioned freely, no British pilot or crewman should be mentioned by name unless he has been decorated for bravery. A similar rule exists in the navy.

Colonials Favored.
In the army anyone may be mentioned in the press but it has been the policy to give more details on the exploits of colonial troops.

Any allied force invading the continent should number at least 2,000,000 combat troops, in the opinion of military men—and that is why the American army must be called upon for a major role. That the United Nations command fully recognizes the situation is shown by the large numbers of American troops which are being poured into the British Isles.

The United States army air force

$8,500,000,000 a year more out of incomes which were already taxed in the spending bill to the point where congress dare not attempt to raise the rates any closer to the confiscation point.

While it was called a "spending tax" it seemed to be everything except that. It seemed to be a residue tax, as a tax on what you had left instead of what you spent. Phases of it looked like an anti-savings tax, a forced savings tax, even a sales tax.

Don't fret about it. Apparently congress is not. Senator Joe Cuffly, as good an administration friend as there is in congress, walked out of the senate finance committee immediately after presentation of the plan, and was heard to say:

"Well, that's out the window already." It was blown out by its own repercussion.

Kaiser.
The army and navy are supposed to have definitely blocked Mr. Kaiser and his transport ship-building plans. While WPB Chief Donald Nelson still says and thinks the Kaiser project is not dead, the armed services will not stand for any diversion of their raw materials from the fighting plane program.

Congressmen understand this is final.

Prepared.
Many Americans in industry, unaided and unsung, are performing heroic feats toward winning this war. One such is Jake Swirlbul, production chief of Grumann Aircraft, greatest assembler of naval planes.

The navy went to Swirlbul, said he would have to build another plant if they could get the steel through WPB priorities.

"Don't worry," said Swirlbul. "I've got the steel."

Where could he get steel? Months ago, before priorities, he had figured up an occasion when he would raise and bought the scrap from the last elevated line torn down in New York (the Japs got the steel from an early one.)

But, said the navy, the plans would have to be drawn up and approved. Swirlbul had the plans, the site, and was ready to start work.

It was most unorthodox; anyway the project would have to be approved by WPB. Approval was actually held up for a while in WPB, but ultimately came after Swirlbul had started building.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, Sept. 3, 1932. A search was being made in the water near Bay Ridge on Lake Erie for the bodies of William Henry, 33, Bucyrus baker, and his son Russell, 24, who were drowned Saturday when their fishing boat capsized.

Mrs. James G. Fairbanks, formerly Dr. Elizabeth Cheatham of Marion, died at her home on Pelee Island in Lake Erie. Her husband was the former president of the Fairbanks Steam Shovel Co. in Marion.

The fifteenth anniversary of Labor Day was celebrated in Marion when more than 1,500 persons joined in a program at Lincoln park sponsored by the Central Labor Union. G. S. Eyre was chairman of the committee in charge.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Tuesday, Sept. 3, 1922. Marion county's first woman to be named as head of a grand jury was Mrs. Will H. Hunt of DeCliff. She was sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Grant E. Mousen when the jury convened for the opening of the September court term.

Thirty-five couples attended a dance given by Marion chapter, Order of DeMolay, in the Masonic temple. The young people were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Eymon and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Conley.

Mrs. S. K. Gorham was hostess to the Tuesday club at her home on South Main street.

This was the second day of the school year and Marion's city school enrollment exceeded the preceding year by 102. The total was 5,223.

Coach Reid of Harding High school put his football squad through its first practice. Evidence of entire new system of coaching was seen. The news report said: "Discipline was in force from the minute he set foot on the field until the close of practice."

Some FBI Statistics

Records Show Women Active in Crime.

By JOHN GROVER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Breakdown of national crime statistics by the FBI shows that American girls are stepping right in to pinch-hit for their brothers in the law-breaking business.

The records show that during the first six months of 1942, 10.2 per cent of all offenders arrested were women, an increase over 1941, when 8.1 of those arrested were females. (The FBI says, however, that the apparent increase may be due to better statistical reporting of female crime by cooperating agencies.)

The war is reflected in the marked increase in sex crimes. With thousands of men away from home, and conditions generally upset, the index of rape cases increased by 9.9 per cent in the first six months of 1942 as compared with the similar period in 1941.

Autos Figure Large.
More "party money" is in circulation, and the 9.4 per cent increase in negligent manslaughter mirrors increased drunken operation of motor vehicles.

Auto theft, presumably because fewer cars are on the street, and because operation of a car without proper gasoline credentials is difficult, showed a 1.8 per cent reduction for the half year.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation noted that there are 175 auxiliary police for every 100 regular police officers in cities over 25,000.

Over the whole country, the score of arrests showed criminals were arrested for 27.7 per cent of the crimes reported.

Larceny and automobile theft were the "safest" crimes, from the standpoint of the criminal. Arrests were made in 24.4 per cent of the auto theft cases and 22.7 per cent of the larcenies. Murder was the toughest rap to beat, with 88.1 per cent of the murderers arrested. The same high percentage held in manslaughter, where 86.1 per cent of the killers were caught, and in rape, where 76.2 per cent of the offenders were jailed.

If-I-Was-Younger

New Age Limit for Army Service
Knocks Props from Under Those Who Tell What They Would Do.

By DAMON RUNYON

I THINK the government has played an unkind trick on the members of the If-I-was-younger association by announcing that it will accept for military service any applicants up to 50 years of age.

This sort of knocks the conversational prop out from under guys who have been standing around remarking, "I wish I was younger so I could get in there myself," meaning in there in the war business, the remark usually being made in a tone of envy to fellows in uniform, or with a note of criticism to lads not in uniform.

Now that the government, through the war department, offers to take them for the asking, silence, which is the worst thing that could happen to them, because they enjoy gabbing. I am inclined to think that this is a severe blow to social chit-chat. Heretofore, the If-I-was-younger had a nice opening crack on being introduced to young soldiers at gatherings behind the ramparts of Fort Stark club, and elsewhere.

It was a fine thing to say to the wife and children, too—"I wish I was younger so I could get in there myself." I put a husband away with his helpmeet as a patriot who yearned for action but was deprived of the opportunity of lunging to the colors by the misfortune of his years. It made the children proud of their loyal popper, and a little sorry for him.

OF COURSE I suppose some of the helpmeets received their husbands' statements of regret with silent reservations, possibly having a wife's insight into the true nature of the blokes, but I am sure most of them believed their parting in matrimony really were suffering pangs of disappointment over not being able to join up. I have great confidence in wives as a class. Besides, their husbands' regret gave them something to talk about, too. They could tell their friends how poor Wilberforce or poor Sam were just eating their hearts out because they were too old to join up.

I know of only one wife whose skepticism in her husband's protestations went so far as to lead her to look up his record in World War I when he was younger, sure enough, and I consider her an unworthy mate for a patriot. She found that he not only did not hasten to the colors but adopted a hacking cough and a haggard expression in case they ever got around to drafting him.

SO THE first time he remarked, "I wish I was younger so I could get in there myself," she replied, briefly, "Oh, peccant!" or something to that effect. Maybe it was fibbers. Anyway, there has been a distinct coolness between them ever since, and confidentially I blame the dame. If she did not sympathize with her man's yearning, she should have kept her trap closed.

Of course the If-I-was-younger association retains its active membership beyond 50 years of age who can carry on the traditions of the organization, but the way things are going these days you can never tell where the government is going. It may finally leave the association with only the boys past 60. The government is not at all choosy about service material any more. As a recruit described the method of examination for the draft:

"They just touch the body and if it is warm, you're in."

Fort Bragg Hermit

By SAM JACKSON

Wide World Features Writer

FORT BRAGG, Calif.—These have been crowded months for the Reverend Mr. Henry Shaw, the hermit of Fort Bragg.

For one thing, two celluloid collars which he brought from England in 1906 mysteriously caught fire in the night and nearly burned down his wretched front shanty.

When a new wren's nest was thought of, long white locks were just a wig and nearly pulled them out by the roots to demonstrate her point.

Then he had to reduce his shopping and welfare bonus cut his relief check from $14 a month to $10.90.

But all was not on the debit side.

A departed friend gave him a bicycle, which Mr. Shaw rides by turning the seat around in exactly the opposite way the manufacturer intended.

Somebody wrote him from Off Clough Road, Yorkshire, England, indicating he might be the missing heir to a feudal fortune.

Best of all, he had time to think, and his lucubrations brought a decision that hereafter he should be known as the "super-hermit."

Last June he had barely passed 62, but he was a white mane and beard, his glass eye, and a society maid of a she-wolf's skin gave him a more venerable appearance.

To reach the hermit's lair, you go through the barnyard of a tolerant neighbor, with her geese scurrying from under your feet, and look for a shack of driftwood on the fog-swept Mendocino coast of California.

If he likes you, the hermit will show a memento of his past. An early picture discloses him as a handsome, well-built clerkman of the Church of England.

His decision to go into retirement dates from some family litigation following the First World War.

He is registered for the draft but so far, the only military use Uncle Sam has found for the super-hermit is to have him black out a window.

SALT LAKE CITY—Only a few months short of 80 years of age and weighing less than 100 pounds, Mrs. Martha L. North doesn't need any assistance on her job as custodian of the William Penn elementary school.

She has held the job since the school was built 17 years ago and for 28 years previous to that she was custodian of the old granite district north school.

For 45 years she has continued to perform all the duties of a custodian, doing all the cleaning in the building, filling the stoker and firing the furnace, shoveling snow and watering the lawns.

Mrs. North's husband died in 1891—since that she has been entirely self-supporting.

The mother of two daughters, Mrs. North has seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren. She will retire at the end of this school year, but not to a rocking chair.

featured in a supporting role in this musical production.

Booth Tarkington's Pulitzer-Prize-winning novel of changing fortunes and shifting social conditions in a Mid-west city will appear Wednesday. "The Magnificent Ambersons," featuring Joseph Cotten, Tim Holt, Dolores Costello and Anne Baxter, in Orson Welles' second screen production.

How The Story Goes

The plot deals with the growth of a little Indiana town, and what happens to it and to its inhabitants when the smoking factories of the nineties replace the fields and orchards around it. Old Major Amberson is the most important man in town, and his daughter, Isabel, is its undisputed social leader, ruling the hugely opulent Amberson Mansion in regal style. Isabel throws over talented Eugene Morgan to marry the uninspiring Wilbur Minfer, and Eugene leaves town.

Isabel's son, George, grows up to be a spoiled, arrogant brat; twenty years later he is insufferable. Eugene returns a widower with a lovely daughter, Lucy, and builds a plant to make horseless carriages. George scoffs at this example of modern industrialism. When Wilbur dies the two former sweethearts reconcile one another, and George is horrified to learn his mother plans to marry Eugene, whom he thinks is an upstart. George forces the weak-willed Isabel to abandon her plan. He takes her aboard.

Changing Fortunes

Eugene's business prospers, but the Amberson fortunes decrease, and when Isabel finally comes home to die and is soon followed by the old major, George suddenly finds he is penniless and forgotten. How he strives to redeem his wasted life and to make amends for the injury he had done Eugene and Lucy, forms the dramatic conclusion to the picture.

Showing Thursday through Saturday will be "Private Buckaroo," with the Andrews Sisters and Harry James and his orchestra. The story is about the adventures of a group of performers in one of Uncle Sam's Army entertainment units. Jennifer Holt and Dick Foran have the leading romantic roles.

Now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater is Nevil Shute's novel, "The Pied Piper." Monty Woolley, Roddy McDowall and Anne Baxter are featured in the story of the Englishman who led a band of helpless children across embattled France to England and safety. The film tells in graphic detail the difficulties encountered in their perilous journey. Starting in the south of France as the gigantic German attack was launched in the tragic month of June, 1940, the Englishman manages to make his halting way home, shepherding his straggling group of youngsters right under the very nose of the dreaded Gestapo. Supporting roles are played by Otto Preminger and J. Carrol Nash.

"Across the Pacific," starring Humphrey Bogart and Mary Astor, will open for a week's run Friday. Bogart is cast as Rick Leland, once a captain in the United States army, now dishonorably discharged. Rick boards the Japanese vessel, Genoa Maru, headed for Yokohama. On ship, he meets Alberta Marlow (Mary Astor) and Dr. Lorenz (Sydney Greenstreet). Lorenz slyly prods Rick into talking about his discharge and also revealing his great knowledge of military installations guarding the Panama Canal. In New York, Rick leaves the boat long enough to report to his superior. It becomes evident he is in the army secret service and Lorenz is the man he's after. Carrying along the game, Rick sells out to Lorenz and reveals certain information in an effort to trap Lorenz and his fellow conspirators. Alberta, going to the Bountiful Plantation in Panama, becomes Rick's self-appointed assistant. Business leads to pleasure and soon they're in love. Once in Panama, events develop swiftly. Suspicious of Rick, Lorenz's men came him severely. Alberta disappears. Rick is told to go to the Bountiful Plantation by loyal Chinese. He is captured at the plantation by Jap agents. There he finds Lorenz, Alberta and her father, Dan Morton (Monte Blue), held captive. Rick then learns of Lorenz's plans to blow up the Gatun Locks in the Panama Canal. The situation calls for swift action in the Bogart manner and Humphrey gives it.

CAPTURING first place in the summaries of the 2:17 pacing event on yesterday's final Marion county fair harness racing program, Little Jack, owned by J. W. Seiter of near Marion, became the first local owned horse to triumph during the three-day meeting.

The winner, a brown gelding driven by Saunders Russell, finished on top in the first heat and was runner-up in both the second and third dashes. Sir Volo, a star of the Joseph Neillie stables, and Red Abbe, owned by Dr. Paul Bernard of Sabina, O., were the other heat winners.

In the first heat Little Jack raced with the field past the seven-eighths pole. At this point he replaced Red Abbe as the lead horse and held on to win by a few inches. Sir Volo, a strong favorite in the mutual play, made his bid for victory in the back stretch, but Driver-Owner Harry Short of Columbus and Remus finished well back in the field after the big gelding broke near the three-quarter mark.

Losses Second Heat

Again in the second heat, Driver Russell held back on the whip until in sight of the home stretch. From here on in Little Jack made a desperate bid in vain to overcome Red Abbe's scant lead and finished second.

He won in the first and second place in the second heat gave Little Jack a tie in the heat summaries with Red Abbe, winner of the second heat. To win the event the Marion horse needed to finish either first or one place ahead of Red Abbe.

Sir Volo, a 5 to 1 choice driven by Wayne Smart, outpaced both Little Jack and Red Abbe to win the third heat. However, the former finished second while Red Abbe was third. By this margin—a first and two seconds for Little Jack as against a first, a second and a third for Red Abbe—the local horse was the race winner.

Brown Derby, another Neville-owned horse, won the featured $600 three-year-old pacing stakes, Wayne "Curly" Smart, head driver and trainer of the horse home first in the final two heats after finishing second in Frisky Direct in the opening heat. The first heat winner was owned by Dr. C. H. Solt & Son of Arlington, O., and driven by Al Clark.

Estimate 2,000 Attendance

Winning only one heat, but finishing second in the other two, Little Aubrey, owned by Jack Raymond of Southern Pines, Ala., and driven by Smart captured the 2:18 trot. Mona Hanover, a popular favorite in the mutual betting, and Indiana Pete, owned and driven by E. C. Gannon of Plain City, O., Harry Short, the Columbus, O., Grand Circuit entertainer, drove Mona Hanover, owned by J. E. Kelly of Bangor, Me.

MINNESOTA LOOMS AS TEAM TO BEAT IN BIG TEN RACE

Talented Sophomores Indicate Another Great Gopher Football 11.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Cutting corners around the Big Ten football circuit, Return of 147 grid lettermen in the conference this season makes a rosy picture despite the wailing heard about losses.

Twenty-two came back at Wisconsin, 20 at Minnesota, 18 at Ohio State, 17 at Northwestern and Purdue, 16 at Illinois, 14 at Indiana, 12 at Michigan and 11 at Iowa.

Minnesota should win the championship—its third in a row, its seventh since 1934. The Gophers have enough material left over for a good team, but outstanding sophomores should make it a great team. A favorable schedule gives them a running start—they play only one conference team, Illinois, in the first month.

Wisconsin should be the most improved team and this should be Harry Stuhldreher's "lucky seven" year. The Badgers will be faster and more experienced with unusual reserve strength in the line, hereofore a weakness. There are seven regulars back and 34 sophomores on hand, 11 of whom are rated Grade-A.

Indiana will have trouble riveting together a line, for Bo McMillin lost eight lettermen and only one was a backfield performer. The nearest thing he has to a veteran guard is a lad who played only 47 minutes last fall. Practices brought double-trouble. Dale Swihart, senior wingback, suffered a broken wrist the opening day. Billy Hiltbrand fell from a horse. His elbow is in a cast and he'll be out of scrimmaging at least a week.

Michigan's Purdue's best year since 1931. Elmer Burnham, the new bossman, discarded the familiar Notre Dame attack for a short punt formation with variations and an offensive shift from three backs in a row. He says there can be no such thing as a first team and that each man on the bench is an important as the man on the field.

What Northwestern lacks in power, it will make up in a diversified attack built around speed and passing by four junior backs, Otto Graham, Don Buffaline, Ed Hirsch and Bud Kean—only returning backfield lettermen.

Oldest note of the early season was struck by stories emanating from Michigan that Tom Kuzma, the 1941 sophomore wonder, will not be as great a halfback this season. Fritz Crisler says he's worried about his star, but it may be just another of his year stories. Look out, as usual for Michigan.

While looking around for All-America prospects, observers say watch Tackle Dick Widung and Back Bill Bailey of Minnesota; Hiltbrand of Indiana; End Bob Shaw of Ohio State; and Kuzma of the Wolverines.

43 To Report For First O. S. U. Grid Drill

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Ohio State university's football training grand begins today with a full week schedule for everyone except the players.

Captain Paul E. Brown ordered 43 hopefuls, 11 of them lettermen, to report today—for uniform fitting and practice taking.

Brown, starting his second season as Buckeye mentor, gets his wish for "lean and hungry" players. This year's crew is about 10 pounds lighter per man and their average age is about a year less than that of last year's squad, making it probably the youngest and lightest grid team ever to represent the university.

The Buck coach must build a new group of runners, having lost 19 of last year's lettermen including the entire starting backfield. Twenty-four of the 43 are sophomores; three are seniors.

Dodgers Open Crucial Three-Game Series with New York Giants; Browns Defeat Tribe Twice

By The Associated Press

BOLSTERED by the return of Pete Reiser and the backroll of Larry MacPhail, the Brooklyn Dodgers faced a snow-down in the National League pennant race today as they moved into New York's Polo Grounds to tangle with the galloping Giants, who have waited eight years for this opportunity.

It was in 1934 that the Dodgers jumped up from the second division and tripped the Giants on the threshold of the National League championship, forcing Bill Terry to eat his widely publicized query concerning the whereabouts of the Brooklyn club.

With the shoe on the other foot, Manager Leo Durocher of the Brookes has been careful not to include among his many utterances a statement which he also might have to devour, but the Giants haven't forgotten the humiliation they suffered in 1934.

Nor did they appreciate the Brooklyn hospitality on their last visit to Ebbets Field, when the Dodgers took four in a row.

In spite of that quadruple setback, the Giants are winding up their best season since 1937, when they won their last pennant.

All of which makes the three-game series opening today the toughest for the Dodgers between here and the end of the line.

Once over this hump, the Dodgers have only two more games with the threatening St. Louis Cardinals, one with the Giants and 11 with the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils, all but three of them on their home grounds.

When they take the field today the Dodgers will welcome Reiser, downing the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, in a night contest. In the only other game in the league last night, the Chicago Cubs collected five twin bills the Browns met the Tribe yesterday with only a half game advantage for third place, a position which supposedly was at stake in the series. But when the fireworks were over, Cleveland was two and one-half games behind, and Luke Sewell's boys had won 5 to 3 and 4 to 0.

Cleveland out-hit St. Louis in the afternoon contest, 10 to 2, but was shut out in the night game by Johnny Niggeling and his snuckle ball, to the tune of four hits. It was the fourth time he had beaten the Indians while collecting 14 victories.

The Browns settled the first game by blowing Chubby Dean off the mound with a four-run blast in the seventh. In the nocturnal tilt they put Mel Harder out of the conflict in the first.

Vernon Stenhaus, by garnering a home run in each session, was the batting star of the day-night double-header, an arrangement new to the major leagues.

Al Smith and Jim Bagby face Steve Sundra and Fritz Ostermuller in today's double bill, played entirely in daylight.

The only other game scheduled in the American league, a night affair between the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators, was postponed until today because of weather.

STANLEY HEADED FOR A. A. BATTING CROWN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 5—The three leading hitters in the American association were Milwaukee men in averages computed through Wednesday, and the top man of the trio was Shortstop Ed Stanky, who increased his lead through the week and appeared almost certain of winning the batting crown.

Stanky, after getting 10 hits during 23 times at bat in six games, boosted his percentage to .337, four points better than Hal Peck and 10 ahead of Heinz Becker.

Trailing these three were Al Powell of St. Paul with .322; Joe Bestudik, Indianapolis, .318; Ed Levy, Kansas City, and Bob Dilinger, Toledo, .311; John Lator, Louisville, and Bill Norman, Milwaukee, .309; and Joe Vosmik, Minneapolis, .308.

Stanky clubbed three doubles last week to hike his total for the season to 53. Other leaders in the specialized departments were Peck with 189 total hits, Charley Gilbert of Louisville with 19 triples; Norman with 24 homers; George Myatt of Columbus with 29 stolen bases and Ab Wright of Minneapolis with 110 runs batted in.

John Hutchings of Indianapolis was the only unbeaten pitcher, but he had twirled in only four games. Best pitching mark was held by Kansas City's Herb Karlow, who had won 10 and lost one. Two other top-ranking hurlers, Harry Brochee of Columbus, who had won 19 and dropped —and Nel Potter of Louisville—who had won 17 in 25 attempts—were leading in strikeout records. Brochee boasted 145 and Potter 144.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 5—Ohio State university's football training grand begins today with a full week schedule for everyone except the players.

"We will be racing against time in building our team," he commented.
